Axonometric Study

Axonometric study translating the spatial strategy into built form, while examining housing clusters, pedestrian connections and their relationship with the surrounding context.