

5-5

Sections

The selected sections examine the spatial relationships within the housing clusters, revealing vertical circulation, internal level changes and the transition between residential spaces and the surrounding context.

4-4